

Team Building

Cooking together is the perfect activity for corporate groups and here at Demuths we can offer you a range of full day, half-day and evening experiences.

THE PERFECT FOOD-FILLED DAY

Our corporate events are designed specifically for each client to suit their needs and budget. Whether your team wants to build on their group work, relax and unwind, celebrate success or hold a meeting we can offer this at Demuths.

We can plan events from Bread making to Thai and Vietnamese Cookery. Our experienced tutors will take you through all of the skills you need to create delicious dishes, this can include a competitive element, such as a bread making competition or best curry cook-off.

Your day finishes with a delicious shared meal, which you will have cooked, together with specially selected organic wines or local juices.

Our dining room can also be booked for private meetings or events either with or without a culinary experience

WHY DEMUTHS TEAMBUILDING?

For managers, our Team Building days are a great way to gain insight into the individuals that make up your team. You can see how people work to their (Meyers-Briggs) 'type' and adapt, when working outside their usual job role. You step outside your leadership role for a day and have the chance to learn more about your team. A cookery class provides a highly structured setting requiring multiple skills and project planning abilities.

For team members, Team Building days provide a great opportunity to get to know each other outside of the work environment. The team gets the chance to be creative, appreciate the talents of their colleagues and work in small groups in a kitchen setting using different skills.

Each team building day is bespoke so please get in touch to discuss your requirements.
